NOTE 1 - NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Brentwood Capital Advisors, LLC ("the Company") is a boutique investment banking firm focused on private placements of senior and subordinate debt and equity securities to institutional investors and providing mergers and acquisition financial advisory services. The Company is a registered broker-dealer under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD").

Basis of presentation

The financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is stated at cost. Depreciation is provided over the assets' estimated useful lives using the declining-balance method. Estimated useful lives range from 5-7 years.

Income taxes

The Company is a limited liability company and as such all federal taxable income and loss passes through to the members for inclusion in their income tax returns. The Company recognizes only state income taxes as an expense in the financial statements.

The amount provided for state income taxes is based upon the amounts of current and deferred state income taxes payable or refundable at the date of the financial statements.

Revenue recognition

Fees related to private placements of senior and subordinate debt and equity securities are recognized upon the date of placement and financial advisory services fees are recognized as services are provided.

Marketing and promotion costs

Marketing and promotion costs are expensed as incurred and amounted to $37,064 in 2004.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Notes to the Financial Statements December 31, 2004

NOTE 1 - NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (continued)

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

The Company considers all accounts outstanding in excess of ninety (90) days delinquent. These accounts are evaluated on a customer-by-customer basis based on payment history to determine the allowance for doubtful accounts. The Company considers accounts receivable to be fully collectible; accordingly, no allowance for doubtful accounts is required.

Financial Instruments

The fair value of the Company's financial instruments approximates carrying values.

NOTE 2 - CREDIT RISK AND OTHER CONCENTRATIONS

The Federal Depository Insurance Corporation (FDIC) insures deposits at financial institutions up to $100,000. The Company maintains balances in financial institutions that, at times, exceed these federally insured limits.

NOTE 3 - PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT, net

Independent Auditors' Report On Internal Control Required by SEC Rule17a-5 for a Broker-Dealer Claiming an Exemption from SEC Rule 15c3-3

The Members Brentwood Capital Advisors, LLC:

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Brentwood Capital Advisors, LLC for the year ended December 31, 2004, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g), in the following:

- 1. Making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the reserve required by rule 15c3-3(e).
- 2. Making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons, and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13.
- 3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of the Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.
- 4. Obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by rule 15c3-3.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in conformity with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2004 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the Members, management, the SEC, the New York Stock Exchange and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
